School board refuses to reclassify 16th section second time

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Once again the Hancock County School Board refused to second a motion to reclassify a parcel of 16th section land from residential to commercial.

Board Member Lennete Necaise made the motion based on a recommendation by Superintendent Terrell Randolph to reclassify the 1.28 acres of land in Section 30-5-15 fronting on the Caesar-Necaise Road.

Board President Billie Lyons said she would not second the motion because of protests she had received from several area residents about a proposed store to be built on the property if a commercial lease was granted.

Randolph had also recommended the board approve a commercial lease to Durwin Spence on the parcel of land at a rate of $270 per year for 25 years.

The board did vote to advertise for sealed bids for a residential lease on the property to be opened at the June meeting.

The bids on the property are necessary due to more than one person requesting a lease.

According to Lyons a standard residential lease on the property would be less than $200 compared to $270 for a commercial lease on the same parcel of land.

However Board Member George E. Ladner added the board was not required to accept the highest bid on the property to be received in June and could decide not to lease the parcel.

Necaise formerly made the same motion to reclassify April 7. The motion also died at that meeting from the lack of a second.

A surveyor's report of the property was also discussed due to a large natural drain that runs through the section.

According to the report by Harry T. Smith, civil engineer and land surveyor, a large area fronting on the road is "high ground" with "good drainage."

In other business the board:

Held four hearings for students suspended from riding school buses. Following a lengthy executive session Board Attorney Joseph Gex reported the board had voted to uphold the suspensions made by Hancock North Central High School

SWAT training begins

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Special Weapons and Tactics training for Hancock County law enforcement officers began this week.

Sergeant Charles Arnold of the St. Bernard Parish Sheriff's Department conducted the county's first training workshop Wednesday, May 7 at the abandoned Pine Hills Hotel in DeLisle.

Arnold is also a former member of the New Orleans Police Department SWAT team.

"The SWAT team is something you hope you never have to use but it is good to have the training it is needed," said Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy.

A SWAT team is a group of highly trained and organized police officers who are armed with automatic weapons and specialize in ending hostage situations or situations where someone has barricaded themselves, he said.

"The main objective of the team is to try and talk the situation out but the SWAT team is trained and capable of taking charge of a situation when necessary," Murphy added.

These teams are concerned with the protection of life and property, he said.

Wastewater board, engineers reach compromise on costs

By DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District has allowed a Jacksonville, Fla., engineering firm 30 days to find a local subcontractor in an effort to cut costs.

The board approved a compromise with Reynolds, Smith and Hills of Jacksonville, Fla., Wednesday following some three hours discussion of the matter.

The engineering firm submitted a list of revised charges about two months ago and district board members feel the new estimates are higher in proportion to the original estimates than they should be.

The revision was made when two parts of a project that will eventually link the Waveland and Bay St. Louis sewerage system and provide sewerage to four county subdivisions were split into three, labeled Segments III, IV and V.

The engineering firm has the contract for Segment III, which consists of improvements at the existing Waveland wastewater treatment plant.

The board has spent parts of two previous meetings trying to reach an agreement with the firm on the new estimates.

Board Chairman and Waveland Representative John Longo Jr. originally objected to the estimates because they contained charges on items not pertaining to the Waveland sewerage system and because some charges listed in the original estimate were increased.

One particular charge Longo objected to as being "way out of line" was a plant start-up charge increased from $0 to $71,000.

The board agreed to compromise measures when Wednesday's discussion showed that Reynolds, Smith and Hills would not agree to further reductions.

The remaining board members, County Representative A.A. Kellar and Bay St. Louis Representative Victor Frankiewicz Jr., both agreed with Longo that the charges were too high.

However, they favored different compromises to settle the problem.

Frankiewicz proposed that the items in the original lump-sum contract be increased in direct proportion to the increase in the scope of the project.

The remaining items would be split into two categories. Both would include any items added when Segments III and IV were reorganized in Segments III, IV and V.

The first category would include anything specifically required by the US Environmental Protection Agency, which is financing part of the project. The district would renegotiate the cost of those items with the engineering firm, Frankiewicz proposed.

The third category would also be negotiable and would include the new items from the revised estimates that the district found non-essential.

Those items would be deliverable on an as-needed basis.

Longo and Kellar both objected to the plan because they felt two months of negotiations has been enough.

"There is no way the three of us can sit down here and renegotiate this, then explain it too the public," Kellar said.

Naval Oceanographic Office to dedicate new center, library

The Naval Oceanographic Office will dedicate its new Oceanographic Operations Center and the Matthew Fontaine Maury Oceanographic Library during ceremonies at National Space Technology Laboratories at 2 p.m., Friday.

The public is invited to the ceremonies for which the Bay High Band will provide the music.

Keynote speakers are Congressman Trent Lott of Mississippi's 5th District and Rear Admiral John Seesholtz, Oceanographer of the Navy.

The 70,000 square foot complex was designed by Cooke, Douglas, Farr, Ltd. of Jackson, Mississippi, and built by Tilley Constructors and Engineers, Inc. of Gulfport.

The center will house the Inshore Oceanographic Operations Project, the Acoustic Oceanographic Operations Project, the Geology, Chemical and Biology Laboratories and the Maury Library.

The library, one of the world's foremost on oceanography, will be open to all qualified researchers. The holding amount to over 100,000 select technical publications in marine physics, geology, marine biology, remote sensing, marine acoustics, and signal processing.

The library has reciprocal agreements with foreign institutions, as well as access to millions of items through computer links with over 4,000 libraries.

COUNTY AGENT RECOGNIZED—A certificate of appreciation is presented to Hancock County Agent Lee Taylor, center, by Lynette Nybo, right, Bay-Waveland Garden Club past president, and Alice Newkirk, outgoing president, on behalf of his continuous cooperation with the organization. The presentation was made on Thursday during the annual installation of officers for the Bay-Waveland Garden Club. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Three Bay residents injured in accident

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Denise Hoda, of Bay St. Louis and her children, Robert, 2, and Tiffany Denise, 5, were injured in a one-vehicle accident early Saturday, May 10 on the Kiln-DeLisle Road. Driving a 1986 Nissan pickup truck, Mrs. Hoda was traveling south when she apparently lost control of the vehicle, according to a report by Sergeant David Davenport of the Harrison County Sheriff's Office.

A preliminary survey indicated that after the vehicle exited the roadway the truck overturned before righting itself beside a tree, the report continued. All three victims were transported to the Memorial Hospital in Gulfport by Mobile Medic for treatment of injuries resulting from the accident. Nursing Supervisor Aleta Fountain said Mrs. Hoda and Tiffany were treated and released but Robert had been admitted and is in guarded condition. Diamondhead Rescue Unit, Hancock Rescue Squad and DeLisle Fire Department responded to the accident. Davenport said no charges have been filed at this time.

Mayfield found guilty, sentencing set for Friday

A pre-sentencing report has been ordered for James L. Mayfield who was found guilty on charges of fondling last week. Judge James Thomas ordered the report following the announcement of the guilty verdict. Sentencing has been scheduled for Friday, May 16 pending completion of the pre-sentencing report by Hancock County Corrections Officer John Kirkland. The charges stem from a Nov. 22, 1985 incident involving a nine-year-old girl.

Nine arrested for beer sales to juveniles

By DENA BISNETTE
Nine arrests have been made in a Waveland effort to reduce sales of beer to minors.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said the arrests were made Wednesday after 5 p.m. in three stores and six lounges where beer was sold to a 17-year-old white juvenile sent into the businesses by the police department.

The youth entered a total of 18 stores and lounges during the investigation.

Police arrested only the actual seller of the beer in each business where violations occurred. All nine people arrested were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, which is a misdemeanor punishable by fine.

"We have been having problems with minors who have been drinking out on the street," Dorn explained. "They aren't as bad on the beach as they used to be. Now they mainly hang around places of business."

He said the problem is expected to increase when a new law goes into effect raising Mississippi's drinking age to 21.

He said the youths behave "like animals" when drinking and said problems have included noise, fighting and profanity directed at people who pass on the street.

Dorn said that the police intend to continue investigations into sale of beer to minors in an effort to control the problem.

In addition, Waveland's curfew ordinance will be enforced. The ordinance, passed in 1977, requires that minors may not be on the streets between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless chaperoned by a parent or other person 21 or older.

Violation is punishable by a fine of $10 to $50 or not more than five days' imprisonment.

Those arrested Wednesday night and the businesses involved included Donna Smith, Little Donna's Lounge; Marcee Hanson, Buccan- neer Lounge; Connie Beach, B-Bop Lounge; Louella Culbreth, Travis' Bar; Beatrice Stewart, Soldini's Grocery; Richard Bourgeois, Villere's Lounge; Helen Dorey, Charles and Ramona's Lounge; Pat Eddy, Pat's Short Stop; and Fred Peterman, Peterman's Little Super Food Mart.

All of the business involved were located on US-90, Sears Avenue or Coleman Avenue.

Gremillion has exhibited her works in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Florida and Alabama in addition to Mississippi. Her paintings will be available for viewing through the end of May. service pretending to be. Jacques Latouche, the business partner, since as far as George knows there is none. He knows only Babette Latouche.

To complete the confusion there is Police Inspector LeGrand who is seeking a great scandal to wind up an otherwise mundane career; Claudine, the parlor maid who is practicing to be a "cocotte," and the real Jacques Latouche who suddenly finds himself hired as the butler in the Chauvanet household.

The role of George Chauvanet is played by Ed Scanlan, who should be familiar to local little theatre partons after his many roles, and the role of his wife Yvonne is played by Barbara Pursley who has been in several productions with Waveland Players.

Good friend Leonard is played by Martin Booda, who has also lent his talent to many local productions.

The part of Babette Latouche is played by Susie Veglia. This is Susie's first appearance as an actress. She is an accomplished French hornist who has appeared in musicals, here and abroad.

The cast is rounded out by Elizabeth Hart as Claudine the parlor maid; Ricky Thorp, a familiar Diamondhead face, as Inspector LeGrand; and Terry Thompson as Jacques Latouche.

"Pajama Tops" is directed by Julian Raymond, recently retired to Diamondhead.

Raymond is experienced in television, motion pictures and live stage. "Pajama tops" will be performed on May 28, 29 and 30 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Poppy Day set for May

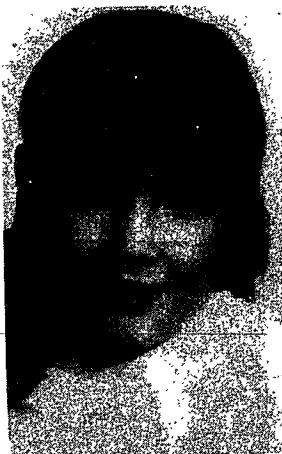

Miss Poppy Danielle Lind is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lind of Kiln and she is a member of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary.

Danielle is seven-years-old and a student at Hancock North Central where she is in the first grade.

Danielle was selected Miss Poppy in October of 1985. Since her selection she has participated in the Veterans Day Parade, Nereids and Triton Mardi Gras Parades. After the Veterans Day Parade she helped serve refreshments at the Legion Home.

Clement R. Bontemps Unit 139 has designated May 17 as Poppy Day in Bay St. Louis. Danielle and the members of the American Legion Auxiliary will be distributing poppies at the local shopping centers. When you see them, please be generous.

The paper poppy is made by the veterans at the Gulfport VA Hospital. They are distributed by the men, women, and children of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary. All of the monies realized from the distribution are used for veterans rehabilitation.

Just by wearing a Poppy we honor the more than half-million Americans who died and nearly one million wounded during both World Wars, the Korean War and the Vietnam War.

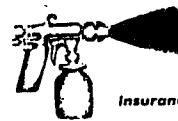

Poppies are a part of the American scene. The Poppy has been accepted as a symbol of the American Legion Auxiliary organization.

When something becomes a symbol, a tradition, or a legend in its own time, then it deserves our continued support and honor.

Look for Danielle and honor America's Veterans. Wear a Poppy on May 17.

Quotables by CUEVAS

It was a joy to see the energetic group of Bay-Waveland Garden Club members at their annual installation of officers on Thursday.

The organization has done so much for the area in promoting beautification over the years.

It is a sponsor of the Annual Spring Pilgrimage, and the ladies spend a lot of time in promoting our communities. Many open their homes and businesses during the tour while other members help.

They help our state at the Welcome Center during Hospitality Day and Tourism Day.

The organization works with our schools in promoting environmental education.

This past year two environmental posters by local students sponsored by the local garden club placed first statewide in their division.

Educational materials on environmental education are provided to teachers by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

The things done by the garden club continue on, such as memorial gardens at the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Garden Clubs, Operation Crepe Myrtle, a beautification of US-90 with shrubs, just to mention a few.

Our communities are lucky to have such an organization involved in so many projects.

Lisa Cowand is the 1986-87 president and is probably the youngest person ever to hold that position, and we wish she and other officers and members of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will have a good year.

Things are getting very dry in the area with this year's rainfall less than half of normal.

We would like to urge all citizens to be extremely careful with fires.

The woods are very dry and it won't take much to get wildfires out of control.

Our gardens are in need of rain and we hope it doesn't come too late.

In talking with local farmers, it has really hurt their crops this year.

Yet some have been able to offer a wide selection at the Farmers Market at the Fairgrounds on Longfellow Drive. The local market is open on Wednesday and Saturday mornings.

Yesterday morning local farmers were offering such Hancock County grown items as snap beans, cucumbers, white and yellow squash, collards, turnip greens, green onions, mustard greens, red potatoes, peppers, and on and on.

There were even a few locally fresh grown tomatoes and farmers indicated they should have more by next weekend.

Gov. Bill Allain

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION WORKS IN OTHER STATES

Since I became your governor in January of 1984, I have been speaking out about our transportation needs and ways to solve them to help develop Mississippi to our economic potential.

I am a supporter of a Department of Transportation that would consolidate our transportation functions - highways, railways, airports, and waterways - into one centralized agency. Through such an agency, we can develop a planned, coordinated transportation system that will assist in the economic development of our state. To indicate how essential a Department of Transportation is to economic development, the Mississippi Economic Council recently voted to support such a department because it would help the growth of the State.

Mississippi is the only state that elects its highway commission. With commissioners elected from three different districts, each must campaign in a different part of the state. To conduct such a campaign, each must indicate where they have built highways in that area. If we continue such a method of choosing highway commissioners, we will never have a statewide highway system. Instead, we will continue to have three, separate piece-meal systems.

Forty-nine of the 50 states have commissioners appointed by the Governor. Those states are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Indiana, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

Twelve states provide for appointment of the highway commissioners by an agency head. Those states are California, Connecticut, Georgia, Hawaii, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oregon and South Dakota.

Sixteen states do not even have a highway commissioner; that function is assumed by a transportation official in these states: Alaska, Arizona, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah and Washington.

During the recently concluded legislative session, I supported a bill that would create a five-member, appointed transportation commission, with one representing each congressional district. The commissioners would be part-time and the agency would be operated by a professional director. In this manner, we can remove politics from the Highway Department and develop a statewide transportation system.

Happy Mother's Day!

CORRECTING THE FLAWS IN THE GUN LAW

For the first time in 18 years, the House of Representatives has taken up major gun control legislation and passed by an overwhelming margin amendments to the 1968 Gun Control Act to correct some of the provisions which have impeded law-abiding citizens from their constitutional right to own firearms.

The purpose of the new legislation was not to make it easier for unstable or criminal persons to obtain firearms, but to ease the unreasonable provisions of the old law which particularly adversely impacted sportsmen and gun collectors. The bill, in fact, increases penalties on those persons who commit crimes while in the possession of firearms.

Over the years I think some misinterpretations of the 1968 Gun Control Act had forced a situation where a lot of people's rights were being abused. Many of the ambiguities and problems with the 1968 act were cleared up with the April 10 passage of the so-called "Volmer-Craig bill."

I think that many of you from whom I have heard will be interested in some of the changes which will occur as a result of this legislation. The bill allows the interstate sale of rifles and shotguns but not handguns, and it permits the interstate transportation of rifles and handguns by overriding state and local laws.

It restricts the unannounced federal inspections of gun dealers to one per year. There have been many instances, as I understand it, where there actually have been harassments of legitimate gun dealers by the federal government.

This bill would narrow the current law's definition of a gun dealer, and it requires "willful" violation for the felony prosecution of gun dealers. It allows these dealers to transfer guns from their business inventory to "personal collections" and then later sell them without keeping records.

The recordkeeping requirement on gun dealers is one of the main areas that has gotten out of control since the passage of the 1968 act.

Finally, the Volmer-Craig bill requires mandatory sentencing for the use of a gun in the commission of violent or drug crimes. That's a very important part of this legislation.

The problem with guns being used in drug and other criminal activities and the absence of adequate mandatory punishment was a glaring flaw in the law. We have corrected that with the passage of these new amendments.

I know that people in South Mississippi—particularly those who are gun collectors and hunters—who have been concerned about the abusive regulations and recordkeeping processes under the 1968 gun control law, will be very pleased that this bill did pass the House of Representatives.

Red ribbons to demonstrate concern for POW/MIA

To The Editor:

As another Mother's Day approaches, I reflect on my family's good fortune. I am thankful that I know where my children are and that they are leading healthy, happy lives. I grieve for those mothers who are not as fortunate, those mothers who have lived with uncertainty ever since the Vietnam War.

Many people in this country are unaware that over 2,400 Americans are still prisoners, missing and unaccounted for from America's longest war. Their mothers, wives, daughters and sisters have suffered nearly 13 years, since the end of active US involvement there.

Serious progress is now being made through the high priority efforts of our President. The unity of all America's mothers can help in bringing about resolution of this tragic issue by signaling our deep concern and strong support for our government's efforts to learn the fate of these special Vietnam veterans.

Here in Bay St. Louis/Waveland we are asking all residents to tie a red ribbon around a tree or post in their front yards or place of business or office. If each person reading this will participate in this important event, it will clearly demonstrate that citizens in Bay St. Louis and Waveland have not forgotten the POW/MIA's, are concerned about bringing them home and support high priority efforts to resolve their fates.

For more information on the POW/MIA issue and how you can help further, contact the National League of POW/MIA Families, 1608 K Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20006 or Theodore S. Price Post No. 3253, Ladies Auxiliary, 343 Third Street, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Parents group asks delay of kindergarten contract signing

May 8, 1986
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

The Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education, in looking to the best interests of the students of the Bay-Waveland School System and recognizing the critical funding situation of all school systems in Mississippi, is concerned about the projected cost of the new kindergarten classroom facility to be built at Waveland Elementary School.

Two bids have been received, both in excess of $400,000 (per square foot cost approximately $55). We have done some research into kindergarten facilities to be built by our neighboring communities, and have found that the average cost per square foot to build similar classrooms is approximately $38 with a range from $35 to $45.

The original plan presented by the architect for eight classrooms, at a cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 (maximum budgeted funds), we found to be good, with the stipulation that the construction not be predominately frame.

We do not feel the school system is well advised to encumber an additional $100,000 debt, nor do we feel the taxpayers should be asked to underwrite this debt for facilities which could be built at a more reasonable cost.

It is the feeling of our organization that there are other very high priority projects which should take precedence over additional dollars for the kindergarten facility.

In light of the above facts, we request the Bay-Waveland School Board do whatever is necessary to reject the two bids which have been received and reconsider the entire matter at the next regular board meeting.

We are confident that the delay caused will not jeopardize the local kindergarten program, but will, in the long run, be in the best interest of the children, parents, administrators and staff of our school system.

Mother excuses misunderstanding of son's military status in Echo article

May 1, 1986

Dear Sir,

May we respond to the editorial letter of May 1, 1986?

We would like to thank the gentleman for his congratulations and interest in our son. We ask that he please take note of the promptness of the correction on page 2A of the May 1, 1986 issue.

The people at the Sea Coast Echo are wonderful people. They really care about others. A special thank you to Brenda.

The misunderstanding arose as our son is in the U.S. Army but attends school at the Air Force base. It was an understandable error.

Our son, John Michael Boyer, will report to West Point Military Academy on July 1, 1986. John has always had integrity and pride in all he has done since he was a small child.

And now we feel he has been justly rewarded for his lifelong achievements and his eminent intellect.

John is a wonderful young man and we are very proud of our son.

Very sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel

A CLOUD ON MISSISSIPPI'S BUSINESS CLIMATE

Mississippi, recognized for its healthy business climate, may have overlooked one important ingredient in its business climate, and that oversight could be discouraging business owners looking this way.

Highly acclaimed for its business climate in a national manufacturers' survey, Mississippi now finds itself trailing most of the other southern states when the business climate is measured in terms of business taxes.

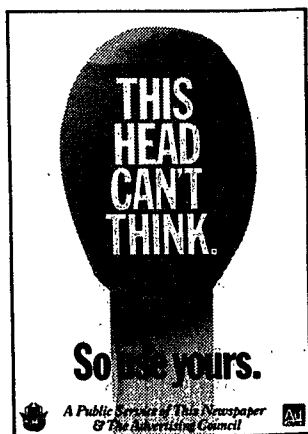

That's the report from two nationally recognized researchers from the prestigious Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

"The competitive environment of the 1980s is causing state and local governments to recognize the need for moderate tax rates and a good business climate," said the research report.

Based on eight indicators of a state's business tax climate, Mississippi ranked eighth among ten southern states and ranked seventeenth nationally. Mississippi trailed Tennessee, Alabama, South Carolina, Kentucky, Florida, Arkansas, and North Carolina, and led only Georgia and Louisiana among the southern states.

In a day when competition is so keen and business climates are so important, Mississippi can ill afford to ignore her business tax structure.

Compromise.....

The engineering firm's representatives, David Herndon and Bill Ver Eecke, both stated that they feel further negotiations would not be needed.

Ver Eecke stated that the original proposal had been underbid and said some of the increases were designed to make up for original cost estimates too low to cover the actual amount of work needed.

Longo and Kellar stated that they favored ending the contract with Reynolds, Smith and Hills and readvertising the Segment III engineering services in order to obtain a new proposal.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex objected, stating that the district has no way to protect itself from legal action regarding any liabilities that might arise from changing engineering firms in the course of Segment III.

Frankiewicz also objected. "I'm against going to another competitive selection. We have used that method twice before and both times we have thwarted the process," he said.

He alleged that selection criteria had been deliberately designed to select someone already favored by the majority of the board for those two contracts.

Longo responded by stating that if the board approved renegotiation, he would approve it only if a time limit was provided.

"We'll limit it to 48 hours. For over two months we have waited for them to give us a better deal," he said.

Ver Eecke provided the compromise. He proposed that Reynolds, Smith and Hills reduce costs by finding a local subcontractor familiar with the area.

The subcontractor would then handle much of the site work and other items, but Reynolds, Smith and Hills would continue to hold full responsibility for the Segment III engineering services.

Proposals for the subcontractors will be presented at the board's June 4 meeting.

In other business, the board voted to hire Ray Eaton and Associates of Jackson to work out a sewerage plan for those sections of the county that are located south of Interstate-10 and are not included in the current project.

Kellar said he proposed hiring Eaton because he is familiar with the wastewater project and with Hancock County.

Frankiewicz voted against the proposal, stating that he did so because he had lost confidence in the capability of the consultant.

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT THE JUNE 3 ELECTION?

The winner will be in office until 1996.

Jon Swartzfager is a vital, dedicated man who knows what hard work is all about. He'll review each case carefully and thoughtfully, on its own merits, using all the resources of his twenty years of legal experience.

And there's one thing you can count on... he won't sleep until the work is done, and done right. Jon Swartzfager will put in the hours.

This election is vital to your future.

The June 3 election is vital to Mississippi's future. In many areas of South Mississippi, the Supreme Court race will be the only item on the ballot on June 3. But that doesn't make this election any less important to you.

The Mississippi Supreme Court sets the state's legal climate. That's why this election means so much to Mississippi.

Let's elect someone who has the experience, understanding, and energy to get the job done.

On June 3, let's go out and elect Jon Swartzfager our next Mississippi Supreme Court Judge.

—1 Peter 4:11

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister
501 Pine St. Bay St. Louis

THE RISK OF LEADERSHIP

Ron Willingham, who had made a study of leadership and has developed excellent courses of leadership, has made some statements concerning "The Risks of Leadership."

A courageous leader runs many risks! He has counted the costs and faces those risks. He faces them knowing that he will not always be right; knowing that he will often be defeated, criticized, or misunderstood. He knows that weaker people who depend upon him are often his most severe critics.

The courageous leader knows that he must define objectives.

And so he defines them, knowing that not everyone will support them. He knows that he must communicate with people and so he tries and risks being misunderstood, misquoted or mistaken.

He knows that he must make decisions. And so with care he does so - knowing that not all of them will be right. Often he trusts people and is proven wrong, but he knows that he cannot quit trusting.

A leader must be concerned with priorities: his profession, his family, his personal needs and the church. He knows that he must define priorities and so he does - often feeling a lack of wisdom, often feeling out of balance, but he keeps sharpening his focus.

Yes, a courageous leader faces many risks. He faces the supreme risk - he knows that he will be judged with a greater strictness! And he occasionally wonders if it's worth it. Sometimes he wants to quit. By being human, he has had to wrestle with emotions of fear, frustration and futility. He has had to deal with the appeal of indecision, inaction and inertia.

But when there are risks, there are also rewards! And the courageous leader has his. He has known the thrill of victory, the joy of achievement, the satisfaction of being useful. He travels on a certain level of life. He is viewed with a special esteem, holds a special hope and savors a special reward.

And so...thank God for leaders. Thank God that they are getting stronger and stronger. We need them.

Over the last decade or more, leaders have experienced more pointed criticism. Much of this has been brought to the front because of a rise of people against authority. No one can successfully lead without the willingness of those whom he leads.

The communist bosses may subjugate and dominate, but they do not lead. Russia, with all their natural resources, scientific achievements and military power, has to import their food.

In church, we all must lead. As parents we must lead our children. As saved children of God, we must lead the lost to the Savior. As husbands and fathers, we must lead our homes. As teachers of classes, we must lead our students to a knowledge of the will of God and practical application of that knowledge in daily living.

As Ron Willingham stated, "Our leaders are getting stronger and stronger." In this we must continue. We must continue to develop new leadership.

More than 28,000 acres of Mississippi's marginal cropland was committed to the planting and management of trees in the first sign-up period under the new Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) according to Freddie Jordan, Forest Management Chief with the Mississippi Forestry Commission. This amounted to about 75 percent of the total acreage signed up under the program in the State.

It is expected that at least that much more acreage will be taken out of crop production and put into trees during 1986 and 1987 in the current May 5 through May 16 CRP sign-up period.

Although landowners have the option of putting the land into either trees, grasses, or wildlife cover under the CRP, it appears trees are the best alternative, at least here in Mississippi. Trees are one of the best ways to not only protect the soil against erosion but, at the same time, rebuild soil nutrients that have been lost during cropping. They too provide beauty, improve air quality, and provide habitat for wildlife, thereby, increasing the recreational opportunities on the land.

But probably the best reason for choosing trees over the other program alternatives is economics. Trees are inexpensive to establish, easy to plant, and require little maintenance, and once payments from the program stop, the farmer owns, no strings attached, a valuable stand of income producing trees. How much income? Forest economists have determined that trees can produce as much as $40.00 per acre per year over the life of the forest provided that a good forest management program is followed. Add to this the income from the Conservation Reserve Program and any charges a landowner might establish for hunting rights (allowable while the land is in the CRP program) and you can plainly see why trees might be a landowner's best alternative for taking land out of crop production.

The Conservation Reserve Program, a part of the 1985 Farm Bill, is a voluntary program designed to reduce erosion from the Nation's most erodible cropland. Annual payments are made to a landowner for up to 10 years for taking qualifying land out of crop production and putting it into permanent cover crops, either trees, grasses, or wildlife food crops.

Payment amounts are determined through a bidding process where landowners make application for the program at the County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office and include a bid per acre. The maximum accepted bids in the first sign-up period was $39. to $40. per acre.

Land eligibility is determined by the local Soil Conservation Service office and is based on the erosion potential of the land. All lands entering into the program are required to meet program requirements for 10 years.

Landowners interested in putting marginal cropland into trees should contact their local office of the Mississippi Forestry Commission. Your county forester can help you decide if you should plant trees and explain how to go about it. For more information on the Conservation Reserve Program contact the local County Extension office, ASCS, SCS, or MFC county forester.

FARMER OF THE YEAR

A Pike County, Mississippi timber grower who describes himself as an "evangelist for forestry" has been named the south's 1986 Outstanding Tree Farmer of the Year.

Al Lansing, a 58-year old retired engineer, was notified recently by the American Forest Council that he had been selected from a field of nominees representing 11 other southern states.

Lansing, whose 1,000 acre tree farm is located seven miles southwest of McComb, is the second Mississippian ever to win the Southern Regional Tree Farmer recognition.

He was automatically nominated for the regional competition after being named last Fall by the Mississippi Forestry Association (MFA) as the state's Outstanding Tree Farmer.

In August Lansing will be competing against winners from four other regions for the national honor. Jack Rauenhorst, State Tree Farm Chairman for the MFA, said the South "couldn't have a better contender in the national competition than Mr. Lansing."

Lansing hopes his success as a tree farmer will encourage other Mississippi landowners to manage their woodlands for maximum production.

"I've proved on my place that timber can be a profitable crop," he said. I preach this all the time - I'm like an evangelist for forestry. I only hope winning this award will make my message have more appeal to more people."

When Lansing bought his farm in 1955, the quality timber had been cut over. He began thinning the poorest pines in the stand, deadening cull hardwood trees and reforesting understocked areas in pines.

In the 30 years since, Lansing has sold enough timber off the tree farm to pay for the place five times over. And he still has more than twice the amount of timber that was on the property when he bought it.

He said he has netted an average of $42 an acre each year since 1955. "I don't know any other crop that will net that much profit," Lansing said.

Before retiring as an industrial engineer, Lansing worked his tree farm on weekends and vacations. He has done nearly all the work himself.

During the last two years, Lansing has expanded his tree farming operation to include a firewood distributorship and pulpwood dealership. He is currently trying to establish a pine straw baling business.

"There should be a market for everything in the forest - wood, leaves, straw, the whole thing," he said.

Lansing believes the state's economic future is in timber, but he says local markets must be expanded.

The national winner will be chosen in August. Last year's winner was from New York.

Brother augments Hermann Baxter memorial collection at Ole Miss

A collection of American history manuscripts and books and 1,000 shares of stock in Storer Communications Inc. have been given to the John Davis Williams Library at The University of Mississippi to honor a former student body president.

Director of Libraries Grey Cole said the donations have been made by Lionel F. Baxter of Jacksonville, Fla. and a former resident of Bay St. Louis, a Storer board member for 25 years and former executive with the broadcasting corporation.

The Storer stock was tendered and proceeds of some $100,000 will be used to create an exhibit room for the Baxter History Collection.

The contributions honor Lionel Baxter's brother, Hermann Baxter, who was Ole Miss Associated Student Body president in 1943 and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, the Scabbard and Blade and the Hermaean Literary Society.

Hermann died in military service during World War II, and a University residence hall was later named in his honor.

The Baxter History Collection was developed by Lionel Baxter from his lifelong interest in American history, especially the Civil War. The collection includes more than 1,000 books and manuscripts, including autographed documents from William Penn, Robert E. Lee, Francis Marion and Charles Carroll of Carrollton.

We're extremely pleased to add to our research collections with this memorial gift," said Cole. "The Hermann Baxter Room will be included in a new addition being planned for the library. Any funds remaining after construction of the room will be used to purchase manuscripts and books that will enrich the Baxter Collection."

Lionel Baxter has had a long career in broadcasting, serving as vice president for Washington affairs for Storer from 1969-74, as president and director of Cable TV, Inc. of Birmingham from 1972-74 and on numerous corporate boards. He was news director of WJDX radio in Jackson in 1938 and spent many years with WAPI and WBRC in Birmingham.

The gifts were made to The Campaign for Ole Miss, which is nearing its goal of $25 million in private contributions to enhance academic excellence at the University.

UNIVERSITY BENEFACTOR—Lionel Baxter of Jacksonville, Fla., former resident of Bay St. Louis, examines a framed document autographed by Francis "The Swampfox" Marion which is among a history collection established at the Ole Miss library in honor of Baxter's brother Hermann who was killed in action during World War II.

Food is one of the most important items in the family budget. Without it we would not be around long. Consumer concern about food prices has increased in recent years as has concern for the type and quality of food available. When considering the grocery tab at the checkout counter, it's interesting to see how food prices look internationally.

How does a trip to an American grocery store stack up with 15 other capital cities around the world? According to a 1983 survey by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS), only about half of the cities would be cheaper than Washington, D.C. The FAS Market Basket includes meat, dairy products, eggs, fruit, cereal, sugar, coffee, potatoes and cooking oil.

Here's how the grocery bills compared. Tokyo, Japan was the most expensive, with a grocery bill of more than $36. Brasilia, Brazil was the least expensive, costing under $10.

The average for all 15 cities in the survey was about $20. Shopping in Washington, D.C. was the same as the 15-city average.

Since most of the items in the survey are ones on the price check list for the Jackson area, prices for those items were pulled and averaged for the same months in 1983. Food prices in Jackson markets were exactly $1 less than the 15-city average, $19.67.

What if you could shop selectively? Which cities offered the best and worst buys on selected foods? For sirloin steak, avoid Tokyo where it costs more than $13 a pound and go to Buenos Aires for sirloin at 96 cents a pound.

Argentina also had the best price for pork roasts, $1.18 a pound, while Bern, Switzerland had the highest price at nearly $6 a pound.

And if you buy your coffee in Brazil, you'd save almost $6 a pound compared to Seoul, South Korea, where a pound of coffee sold for almost $7 in 1983.

Potatoes were cheapest to home, 12 cents a pound in Ottawa, and nearly four times as expensive in Tokyo. The same goes for sugar, which you could buy at nine cents a pound in Mexico City, compared to 50 cents in Tokyo.

Of the 15 food items surveyed for retail prices, none of the highest or lowest prices were found in Washington, D.C. In fact, when Washington retail prices for each food item were compared with the average prices of the 15 other capital cities, it was cheaper to stay home for eight items.

Those items were sirloin steak, broilers, whole milk, apples, oranges, wheat flour, rice and coffee (even though it is imported).

Knights slay Tigers in South State playoff

Special to The Sea Coast Echo

Bay High Tigers ended an outstanding season with a loss to the West Lauderdale Knights ending hopes for a state baseball title.

The second game Thursday night of a best-of-three series followed an opening loss by the Tigers Tuesday night in Collinsville.

The Tigers were welcomed home Thursday night by the largest crowd ever to witness a baseball game on the Tiger diamond.

South-paw junior pitcher Jesse Logan of the Tigers started things off with a bang by striking out three of four batters in the top of the first inning.

After Bay High's lead off batter struck out, Trace McRaney singled into the outfield, and Tiger shortstop Jeffery Smith slammed a two-run homer over right center to put the Tigers on the scoreboard. The next two batters popped up to retire the sides.

Top of the second inning saw pitcher Eric Plowman on base with a walk, and a courtesy runner taking his place.

Now Logan's favorite play—pitcher to first base on a blazing pick off, runner going down to second, caught in a run down between Tiger first baseman Craig Breland, second baseman Monty Strong, for the first out.

Knight third baseman Michael Lee gets to first on a single and catcher Kevin Caldwell hits a fielder's choice to get the advance runner for the second out. Center fielder Scott Bennett draws a walk before Kerry Wooldridge pops up to the Tiger right fielder Matt Fairconnetue for the third out.

In the bottom of the second inning, catcher Stace McRaney drew a base on balls, but the courtesy runner was immediately picked off by Plowman, the Knights' left-handed pitcher. Breland walked, and Fairconnetue was called out on strikes for the second out of the inning.

Plowman walked the next three batters scoring Breland. Tension was mounting, just the place where the Tigers wanted to be, bases loaded and Jeffery Smith at bat. Fate would not have it. High pop up to the right fielder and the Tigers went to the bench, coming out of the inning with only the solo score.

In the top of the third inning, Logan struck out the first two batters, before Charlie Roberts had the Knight fans on their feet cheering his double. Clean up hitter, David Clark was the batter, Roberts on second, when Clark grounded out to the Tiger third baseman Trace McRaney for the third out.

Bottom of the third inning, powerful Brian Laneaux slammed a triple and scored on the sacrifice fly by pitcher Jesse Logan. Stace McRaney struck out, Breland drew a walk and Fairconnetue struck out, leaving one Tiger base runner stranded at the end of the inning.

In the top half of the fourth inning, Plowman, the leadoff batter grounded out to the third baseman for the first out. With no one on base, Knight third baseman hit a solo homer over the right center fence for the single score in the inning by West Lauderdale.

In the bottom of the inning, the Tiger lead off man struck out and Shabazz reached first on an error by the second baseman. Pop up to the second baseman for the second out, before Smith hit into a fielder's choice getting Shabazz as he went to second, to retire the side.

To open the sixth inning, Clark drew a base on balls, Plowman doubled and Lee, who the inning before had homered, was walked, loading the bases. Kevin Caldwell hit to the right fielder, Matt Fairconnetue who made a spectacular show, getting Clark coming home for the first out. Bennett struck out, Wooldridge walked, leaving the bases loaded once again when the lead off man for the Knights struck out.

The first man up for the Knights in the seventh inning, Mark Vance, singled, Roberts walked, and Clark singled, sacrifice by Plowman, scoring Vance, one out, one man in. Lee drew a base on balls, and then Caldwell pounded a ball into field scoring Clark, tying the score at four all. Roberts was tagged out trying to score from third. Two more Knights crossed the plate, and when the Tigers came to bat they were down two runs.

In the last inning for the six senior starters of Coach G. L. McRaney, it was three up, three down.

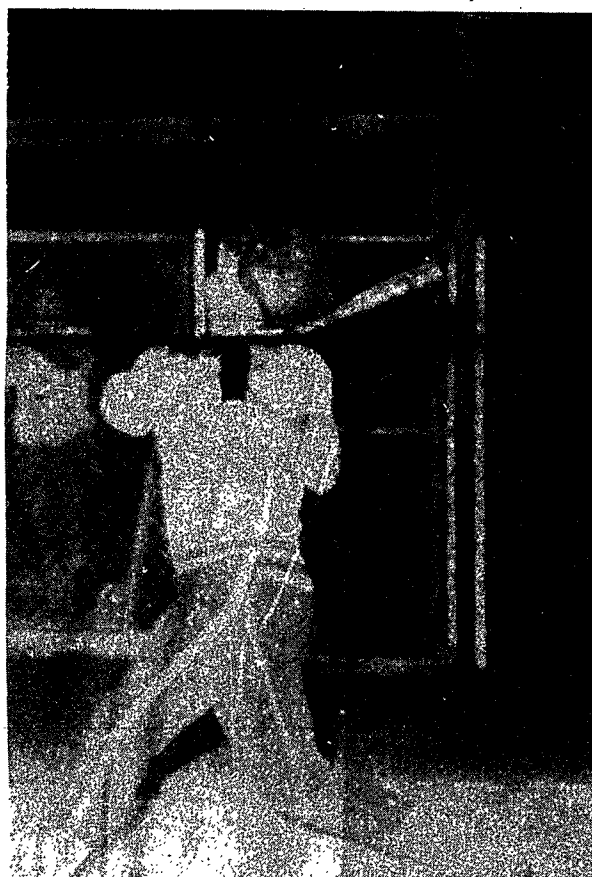

Score after seven full innings of play, West Lauderdale 6, Bay High 4. Winning pitcher Eric Plowman with statistics of 24 at bats, 4 runs and 4 hits. Twelve strike outs and six base on balls. Logan suffered the loss with 24 at bats, six runs allowing 9 hits, 8 strike outs and 9 base on balls.

At the plate for the Tigers, Trace McRaney, Jeff Smith, Brian Laneaux and Jesse Logan had one hit each with a two-run homer by Smith and a triple by Laneaux. Smith also had two RBI with Logan and Stace McRaney getting an RBI each.

For the Knights, two players had multiple hits, Michael Lee went two for two including a solo home run and Kevin Caldwell was 3 for 4 and 2 RBI.

West Lauderdale advances to the State Playoffs next week meeting the winner of the North State tournament.

Hancock Women's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Hancock Women's Club was held on May 8 at the home of Julia Loup, 620 Central Ave., Waveland. Present were 25 members and guest Jeanne Garcia, daughter of one of the members.

With Lois Cripple presiding, the following coming events were announced: Card day at 1 p.m. on May 22 at the home of Irene Johnston, 213 N. Beach Blvd., Waveland.

Luncheon meeting at 11 a.m. June 12 at the newly opened Dante-By-The-Sea Restaurant, Bay St. Louis.

Games at the home of Ruth Gallagher, 332 Terrace St., Waveland. Members will bring "white elephants" to be used as prizes.

A motion was made which carried unanimously to donate $300 to the Waveland Library toward the $500 needed to obtain matching funds from the Andrew Mellon Foundation for the purchase of the 60-volume Library of America series.

This donation was made possible by the very successful yard sale which was held by the Hancock Women's Club on May 3.

The door prize was won by Ruth Gallagher. Following the meeting, a luncheon prepared by the board members was served.

Medical Assistants

The Mississippi Society of Medical Assistants held its 20th annual convention May 2-4 at the Best Western Regis in Greenville.

A lazy Delta picnic was held on Friday evening, followed by the general business session, awards luncheon and installation banquet on Saturday.

Elected to serve as state officers for the 1986-87 year were: Carol Ann Coker of Tupelo, president; Faye Pickle, CMA of Amory, president-elect; Ann M. Larkin, CMA-A of Biloxi, vice-president; Margaret Parkel, CMA of Brandon, secretary; Ila Sears of Florence, treasurer; and Delores Kimbrough of Greenwood Springs and Linda McMinn of Mooreville, executive board members.

Beef lovers rejoice!
The best tasting beef in America is now exclusively yours.

Better than USDA Choice! Better than Black Angus!
More highly selected than USDA Prime!

INTRODUCING

Certified Angus Beef

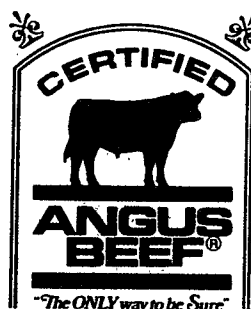

Experts agree: Certified Angus Beef is the tenderest, best tasting beef in America. And now, by special arrangement with the American Angus Association this top quality beef is available to you - exclusively at National and Canal Villere.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR IS GOOD ENOUGH

The Certified Angus Beef stamp of approval carries such high quality standards that only one in four, just 25% of all the Angus cattle tested, are accepted. By contrast, the USDA Choice rating is given to 90% of all beef graded. Even beef advertised as "Black Angus" offers no assurance that it could pass Certified Angus Beef inspections.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE MARBLING

The difference between an average steak and a tender, juicy Certified Angus Beef steak is the marbling — the small flecks of white throughout the beef. The marbling in Certified Angus Beef insures a better tasting cut of meat every time.

EVEN OUR TRIMMING IS SPECIAL

To make sure you get the very best value our meat department trims each cut of Certified Angus Beef to a maximum of 1/4 inch of fat. This not only saves you money but helps make Certified Angus Beef lower in cholesterol than skinless chicken.

LOOK FOR THE SHIELD

So, if you're looking for the best tasting beef in America, just look for the special Certified Angus Beef section in our fresh meat case. The Certified Angus Beef shield guarantees that you'll be serving beef that's better than USDA Choice, better than "Black Angus" and even more highly selected than USDA Prime.
